HAPPY MAY!

May is Motorcycle Awareness Month! I'm pretty sure that most of us are aware of motorcycles around us whether we're on the bike or in our vehicles but, we must always make sure that when riding, we are noticed by car, trucks, etc. Best advice I received years ago...Ride like you're invisible, because they don't see you! Please pay attention to your surroundings whenever riding and expect the unexpected!

May is when we celebrate Mother's Day.

I'm so fortunate that my mother was and is always very supportive of my riding. She loved riding on my bike, whether on a Toy Run (24° that day 🤔), day ride or a Mother's Day ride.

Happy Mother's Day to all mothers and grandmothers - Gretchen

When Bad Things Happen to Good People; How to Handle Crash Emergencies

Very few things in life bring us as much joy, thrills and pleasure as riding. I'm sure we'd get wide agreement on that point. And as with all things thrilling, riding comes with risk. At some point, when perhaps you least expect it, you or a member of your party is going down...and maybe going down hard. This misfortune might be due to a careless driver who makes a left turn in front of you, or over you. Or it could come from an oil slick on a turn. Or some debris that has fallen off of a truck...gravel, bark, trash, so many hazards occasionally end up in the road. A friend of mine once hit a big piece of watermelon rind, of all things. But it was enough to take him down and hurt him pretty badly. So, what are we do to? Stop riding? I think not! Ride on and be as knowledgeable and skillful as possible about how to handle crash emergencies.

If the crashed rider is not you, but another rider, recognize that accidents happen in dangerous places. Do not be the second victim as you seek to render aid. Do not stop unless you have a safe place to do so. You cannot assist if you too have crashed.

Call 911 immediately. Sometimes when panic sets in, we may forget our basic first move. Dial 911 and report what happened and what rescue is needed in as much detail as you can.

Do not move the crash victim(s) unless it is required by the situation. If a bike is on fire and a rider is pinned, they obviously must be moved. Otherwise take a moment to determine if moving the victim is truly needed. Along those lines, do not remove a crash victim's helmet unless the reason is compelling. Spinal injuries can be worsened by a well-intentioned removal of a victim's helmet.

Check the victim's respiration. If there is blockage of the airway, remove it, but leave the helmet in place if possible. A full-face helmet makes this more difficult, but it can be done even then.

Be ready to preform CPR. If you have taken a CPR course put your life saving skills to work as soon as possible.

If there is profuse bleeding, do what you can to stop it. Loss of enough blood can kill a victim before first responders have time to arrive.

Blood tends to induce panic in many people. Don't panic merely at the sight of blood. Take time to inspect the source of blood to determine the extent of the injury. Stop the bleeding if it is moderate or severe.

Enlist assistance if possible. If there are other riders or bystanders, ask them to help. Someone calls 911. Others alert traffic on both sides of the accident to prevent motorists hitting the crash scene before they are able to stop. A gentle voice comforting the victim can be a big help as well.

If there are multiple victims take a close look at the various injuries. Then prioritize your assistance based on the severity of the injuries.

If you have had first aid or Emergency Medical training so much the better. Ask whoever is present if they have such skills.

Keep your wits about you even as you deal with this horrible scene. Do what you can to help. And do not rush in and make it worse.

Keep the rubber side down at all time.

Ta Ta for now, Tom

PACKING FOR A ROAD TRIP:

Our first overnighter is coming up as I write this and I am thinking about what I will pack. I also have two long trips later in the year. One 17 days, and one 9 days. I will have to carefully pack for all of these. Barb will be with me for the overnighter and the 17-day trip so I must pack carefully for those.

When traveling with Barb, we limit ourselves to 3 changes of clothes plus the one we wear. We plan on washing clothes in a motel at least once every 4 days. We always take our swim suits so that everything can be washed. We will have at least one warm shirt/sweater our chaps, and our rain suits. We will take summer and winter gloves, scarf's and motorcycle jackets with zip out liners. We will have water and snacks along with billed hats to wear when we stop. We carry cooling devices that we can wet down and tie around our necks if needed. I wear hiking boots instead of my usual motorcycle boots so I can enjoy a hike when we stop. We have blue-tooth communicators with their chargers along with our cell phones. The Harley has GPS so I preplan the trip and load the route into the bike. Otherwise I would have a handlebar mounted GPS. I also carry maps for each state we will be traveling in as well as a paper copy of the trip and the planned stops. These are the essentials, and we don't leave home without them.

Other items that come under consideration now and again, but are rarely taken: Barb may add her pillow if it is a short trip and she can afford the space. A spare bottle of oil. An air pump that can be run from the power outlet on the bike. Flip flops for going to the motel pool.

It is very easy to take more that you can carry or use. I have been on group trips where someone was searching for someone else that could carry his jacket or chaps when it got hot. I always leave space for items that will be taken off in hot weather. Ask yourself if you really need items when packing. I went to Alaska with a guy who never washed his clothes. He just threw them away when dirty and bought new when needed. That is extreme but demonstrated that most items either aren't needed or can be acquired on the trip if the need arises.

New Sponsor - SuperBike-Coach

by “Media Mistress” Robyn LaMantia - VP

NEW SPONSOR - SUPERBIKE-COACH

Can Akkaya, owner of Superbike-Coach, is partnering with the RRMC as a sponsor and will give us a 10% discount on Cornering School & NEW Cruiser Riding programs. These classes are designed to improve your riding skills and perhaps, teach you new ones.

I personally took the Cornering School - Day 1 a couple of years ago - in fact, yours truly is featured on the Superbike-Coach website on the Cruiser Class page image slider - yup, that's me on my old Yammie wearing my white summer jacket.

Can & his instructors are expert riders and proficient teachers. I was excited to ride my own bike around the small, but technically challenging track. At first, it was a bit unnerving having an audience watch as I drug my floorboards around the tight corners but their feedback was constructive and extremely helpful. I found the experience very enlightening and took away some valuable strategies and skills. I do plan to continue my “riding education” beyond my parking lot drills and these intermediate to advanced courses are a great source for honing your skills.

Still not convinced? Check out the testimonials, Google and Yelp reviews.

As of this writing, these classes are normally $141.09 BEFORE the 10% discount; a small price to pay for our continued riding education and safety! Below are the classes which are still open for enrollment in 2019. If you are interested, BOOK EARLY as they fill up quickly! To receive your 10% discount, [WEB VERSION-CONTACT ROBYN FOR CODE] during checkout. Please do not abuse their generosity by sharing this code - it is for RRMC members only!

Redwood riders get ready for Superbike-Coach classes in 2019

His cornering program is way beyond the typical class setup you use to know, and the subjects are huge eye-openers even for seasoned riders. Parking lot training doesn't go far, which is why even the US Air Force worked with Coach to train their riders 'real life' and matching coaching techniques, which is Coach Akkaya's strength. A balanced classroom/track ratio and a step-by-step strategy will give our students missions- motivation- and progress. Coach will keep you entertained off and on our challenging race track.

- Professional coaching
- Track fees, water/snacks included
- Street riding protection is fair enough
- Classroom/track sessions
- 3 level groups = low headcount per group
- Class with potential for individual attention
- First-hand subjects, drills, demos
- Free sport photography
- Established 5 star riding school
- Only $139

The subject list might sound familiar and that's why it ain't sound so 'tempting' - but let us assure you that there are many things wrongly "interpreted" or wrongly taught out there. That is our experience with the thousands of riders we've made in many years. So if there is something you think you know already, then Superbike-Coach might surprises you.

Day1

- Emergency Braking, ABS beyond the limit
- Corner line and Coach's Waypoint Viewing
- Countersteer survival drill
- Coach's 'Uber Countersteer'

Day2

- Trail Braking the right way
- Coach's 'Uber Braking'
- Riding drill with/for passenger
- Psychology of Riding

Fellow Motorcyclists:

My bike, Kermit, and I are ready to hit the road to participate in the October 6, 2019 Northern California Ride for Kids ride to support the Pediatric Brain Tumor Foundation. The ride will be starting and ending at the Solano Community College, 4000 Suisun Valley Rd, Fairfield, CA 94534. Registration is from 8-9:30 a.m. and kickstands up: 10 a. m., Rain or Shine. Join me and other bikers for a scenic, police-escorted motorcycle ride from Solano Community College. Local pediatric brain tumor survivors will accompany motorcyclists on their ride. Any make or model of street legal motorcycle is welcome, and food and entertainment are available for all registered attendees.

PROCEEDS BENEFIT THE Pediatric Brain Tumor Foundation

Online Registration: $40 | Day-of Registration: $45

One registration per person. Registration fee includes 2019 Ride for Kids T-shirt, ride pin, light breakfast and lunch at event. Online registration will close the Friday before the event at noon local time (<https://team.curethekids.org/event/2019-northern-california-ride-for-kids/e215390>).

I've been volunteering for the Pediatrics Brain Tumor Foundation and Ride For Kids since 1994, to raise money to help find a cure for this terrible disease. People like you have helped many cancer survivors and their families live prosperous lives rather than succumbing to this disease. Over the years I watched so many of these kids grow up to become productive adults whose cancer is either in complete remission or gone all together.

"The Pediatric Brain Tumor Foundation is the world's leading nonprofit dedicated to the childhood brain tumor community. We serve the more than 28,000 U.S. children and teens battling brain tumors by investing in the most promising research and providing practical, informational and emotional support to families.

All services are free for pediatric brain tumor families, including emergency financial assistance, a resource notebook for newly diagnosed families, the award-winning Imaginary Friend Society video series, college and vocational scholarships, and much more." (About Us, 2019).

For those not able to make the ride, I am asking you donate $5, $10, $50, or more to help me reach my goal of $25,000 for this year's Northern California ride. Donating is secure, easy, and quick, just go to my fundraising page, <https://team.curethekids.org/fundraiser/1911159> to donate. If you are not comfortable donating online, feel free to mail me a check written out to Ride For Kids and mail it to me and I will send all checks into the Foundation before the October 2019 ride. Thank you so much for your support. To help me meet my goal even faster, please share this page with friends and family who may be interested in donating.

Kermit and I thank you for your help,

Ken
